

When we have experienced the transforming power of God's love, He wants us to share our faith with family, with friends, and with the world.

Every believer bears responsibility for sharing God's good news. So don't be a quiet Christian, and don't keep your faith to yourself. Instead, talk about Jesus and, while you are at it, show the world what it really means to follow Him.

Resting in His Shadow

God is always with you, always willing to calm the storms of life. When you sincerely seek His presence—and when you genuinely seek to establish a deeper, more meaningful relationship with His Son—the Lord is prepared to touch your heart, to calm your fears, to answer your doubts, and to restore your confidence.

During these times we must remember that we are right where God wants us. As much as we would like to pick up the pace and move ahead, we just have to take a deep breath and keep going, one step after another, hour after hour, one day to the next.

And while we are working to align our expectations with God's sense of timing, we must not overlook the many blessings we have in the present moment and the ways we can serve others right where we are.

Shake Free
Samuel Rodriguez

One of my heroes is the sixteenth century reformer Hugh Latimer. When asked to preach in front of King Henry VIII, he struggled with what to say. King Henry had the reputation of chopping off the heads of his enemies.

Latimer struggled within himself, “Latimer! Latimer! Do you remember that you are speaking before the high and mighty King Henry VIII, who has the power to command you to be sent to prison, and how he can have your head cut off. Will you take care to say nothing that will offend royal ears?”

He paused for a moment, then continued, “Latimer! Latimer! Do you not remember that you are speaking before the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords; before Him,
at whose throne Henry VIII will stand;
before Him, to whom one day you also will have to give account yourself?”

Latimer! Latimer! Be faithful to your Master, and declare all of God's Word."
