

We choose the Bible as the unchanging standard for all we do and believe because Jesus did. We must read and obey the Word of God to realize our identity in Christ.

Jesus Loves Me
John Dickerson

God's Word is our anchor. We should cling to His Word no matter what anyone around us does or says, for "the Holy Scriptures...are able to make (us) wise for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus."

We can find stability in knowing "the Holy Scriptures," another term for the Bible or Word of God. We can be unshaken in the midst of a shaking world when we "continue in what (we) have learned."

Jesus Loves Me
John Dickerson

This might seem like a strange idea, that a big old book has the power to stabilize our lives in any challenge or circumstance. But when we refer to the Bible, we're not talking about any old book. The Bible is not a book of myths. The cities and characters the Bible mentions all existed. The Bible is historically valid, and yet it is so much more than a history book.

God gave you the Bible to feed you in every season of life. As a follower of Christ, you cannot find the fullness of what God has for you in life apart from His words in Scripture.

If I want to grow as a Christian, if I really want to see God's power change my thinking and make me a new person, then I must submit to and treasure the Bible as God's very words to me.

Jesus Loves Me
John Dickerson